SUMMARY OF THE EXAM

A small bowel series is an exam performed to evaluate the small intestines. You will be given a thick liquid called barium to drink. The barium will coat the lining of your intestines, making them visible on X-ray images. The technologist will be taking X-rays every 15 minutes for one hour, then every 30 minutes thereafter until the barium reaches the end of the small bowel.

WHAT TO EXPECT

There is no pain associated with a small bowel series. Some people experience mild abdominal bloating and/or find the texture of the barium unpleasant.

- Please bring a complete list of all your medications.
- Please bring a driver's license or other photo ID.
- Please arrive 30 minutes prior to your scheduled time.
- Have nothing to eat or drink after midnight the day before.

NOTE: Blood work should always be drawn before X-rays are performed. If you are having blood work, please arrive early and inform the outpatient lab you have a radiology appointment. Please arrive on time for your radiology exam.

LENGTH OF EXAM

The exam could take up to four hours, but plan on being in the department at least five hours from check-in until the exam is completed.
